

This aerial photograph shows the proposed building footprint, which is a rectangular structure located at the intersection of the existing street and the proposed street. The footprint is outlined in black and labeled with a white box containing the text "Proposed Building Footprint". The surrounding area includes existing streets, parking lots, and other buildings.

